Southern Railway update - cancellation of trains to Victoria - via Clapham Junction - until 10th January

It has been announced that Southern Railway will now not be running trains to, or from, London Victoria until 10 January, due to "coronavirus isolation and sickness".

Southern's decision to suspend its London Victoria services also means it will not serve Clapham Junction, Wandsworth Common or Battersea Park.

Planned re-signalling work at London Victoria had already resulted in most Southern trains, due to serve the station between 27 December and 3 January, being diverted - to run to and from London Bridge.
